

California Ranch News

The outlook for a fine cotton crop is very favorable in the Dos Palos section and cotton is opening and maturing rapidly.

The Van Nuys branch of the Fred B. Neuhoof Cannery company, is putting up tomatoes and expects to can 100,000 cases before the season ends.

Reports from field representatives made to the California Lima Bean Growers association indicate the lima yield this season, in San Fernando, will be larger than last year's.

Walnuts throughout Tulare county will run short this season, according to careful estimates which have just been made by growers, who assert the crop will be about 60 per cent of normal.

W. C. MacFarlane, Hanford, has made a contract with the Wilmar Hatchery of Wilmar, Los Angeles county, to furnish it all of his eggs the hatchery desires, commencing delivery the middle of September.

During the past few days many thousands of dollars have been distributed by hop growers to hundreds of men, women and children employed in hop picking in Sonoma county. The growers paid $1.25 per 100 pounds for picking and the harvest has finished.

Snails and Argentine ants have the garden and flower growers of the Redlands district busy this year. In fact, the two pests have done more damage in this one year than in several years before. It has meant a continual fight to keep the gardens free from them.

The first raisins of the season went from the McFarland district recently. Loy and Frevert shipped 11,092 pounds and the Greeson ranch sent out 13,820 pounds. These ranches are three miles east of Famosa and shipped the first green grapes of the district this year also.

Picking of grapes for raisins is well under way in McFarland district. The crop is rather light, but of good quality, and the weather has been favorable to drying. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the local crop will be dried for raisins. These are practically all Thompson Seedless.

Grape growers of Visalia, believe that the outlook for good returns from vineyards this year is excellent. Shipments of fresh fruit began two weeks earlier than usual this season. The market has been satisfactory, but remembering the slump of last year, many are drying their grapes.

Cotton growers of Corcoran are hesitating over rates for picking this year. Some believe that 1 1/4 cents a pound is enough while others think the rate should be 1/2 cent higher. A bonus system will probably be used, within an additional 1/4 cent to pickers who complete the first picking.

Ten acres of sunflowers which John Hill of McFarland is growing this year for the Morse Seed company are now being cut. The agent for the Morse company says they are of very fine quality. Only the main large heads are being cut and they will be allowed to dry on the ground until they have no moisture in them.

Despite the fact that prohibition has now been the law of the land for seven years, the acreage and production totals for California wine grapes continue the steady increase which began directly after enactment of the law. The wine grape area in the state this year amounts to 156,945 acres, as compared with 137,749 last year.

The Gus Spengler ranch in the Jasmine district reports the olives grown on the place are very large. Mr. Spengler believes that this is due to the fact that he grows four varieties and that the cross-pollination resulting is beneficial. New receiving tanks and a grading machine for olives have been installed at Terra Bella to help market the crop.

J. S. Richards, who owns a fine sixty-acre ranch at the edge of McFarland, has some of the best "roasting ears" ever raised in this section. The corn is called June, or Eight-Row in Oklahoma. The seed was brought from there by Richards, who was on a visit to his old home last spring. It grows there to the height of a man, but with McFarland soil and irrigation and sunshine it grows to the immense height of thirteen feet. It was planted last June, and has been bearing since August, and keeps producing a fresh crop of ears.

GRAHAM-KNOFF

Sunday's Mercury Herald contained the following account of the wedding of one of Campbell's popular young men to an equally popular young lady of San Jose.

The lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. George Edwin Graham at the corner of The Alameda and Race streets, which is one of the show places of the famous thoroughfare, was the scene of a wedding yesterday afternoon, when their youngest daughter, Lucille Clair Graham, became the bride of Keith Max Knopf of San Francisco.

The spacious rooms of the house were decorated with a profusion of potted plants and ferns, combined with dahlias of various shades of pink, which brought out the chosen colors for the wedding. As the couple plighted their troth, they stood in front of the fire place, which was banked with plants to form an improvised altar. At each side were cathedral candles, and beyond them tall candelabras, in which pink candles gleamed.

At the appointed hour, Mrs. Neil Schelbach, a life-long friend of the bride, took her place at the piano and played the opening bars of "A Birthday," which Mrs. Miles Dresskell sang. Mrs. Dresskell also sang "Bridal Dawn" by Martin, and then, with the opening strains of the wedding march, the bridal party entered.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a dress of white satin trimmed with the crystal beads, which formed a floral design. She wore a veil of silk net, which fell in soft, billowy folds over her dress. It was made to resemble a crown in shape, and was trimmed with rose print lace which has been in the family several generations, and it has been an added touch to the costumes of several brides of the family, helping to carry out the tradition of "something old." The veil was held in place by a band of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was a shower of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Carl Wheeler Watts, whose wedding was celebrated a year ago, attended her sister as matron of honor. She was dressed in a sleeveless gown of pink georgette, trimmed with the silver beads, and completed by a belt of silver. Her bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley.

Kenneth Knopf was his brother's best man, and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Rev. Mark Rifenbark performed the ceremony, and after the large number of relatives and friends who were present had greeted the bridal couple, refreshments were served buffet style.

Mr. and Mrs. Knopf departed late in the evening for a honeymoon trip to various points of interest in California. They made the trip by motor, and when they return will make their home in San Francisco. The bride's traveling costume was of black satin, and her coat was made with a shawl collar and trimmed with kolinsky fur. A small black turban completed the costume.

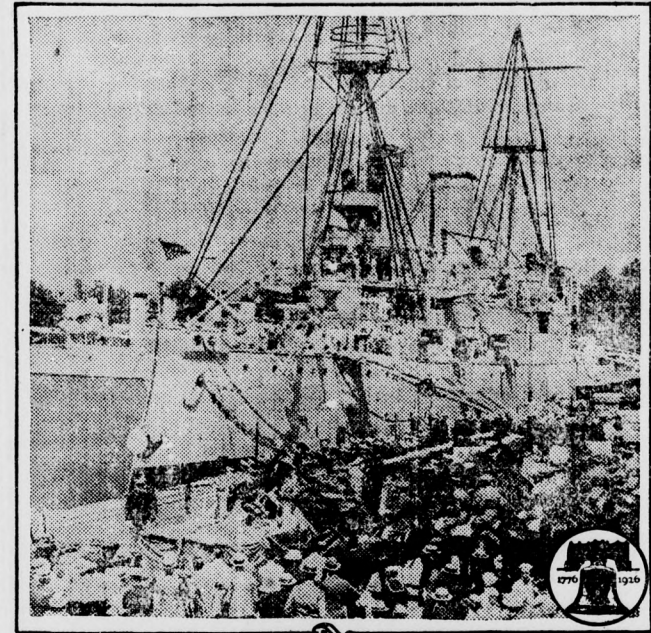

Mr. Knopf is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Knopf of Campbell.

The wedding was one of the fashionable events of the early autumn, and was attended by almost a hundred guests from San Jose, the bay cities and the peninsula.

Here from San Francisco

Mrs. Mary Dunphy who is now making her home in San Francisco was here Friday and Saturday on business. She was an overnight guest of Mrs. W. H. Woodbury, and called on a number of friends. She is enjoying her new home and Miss Harriett is finding her library work at the Teacher's College there very congenial and satisfactory.

DEWEY'S "OLYMPIA" AT THE SESQUI

The famous old flag ship is shown at her berth in Philadelphia Navy Yard, the background for the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition which celebrates 150 years of American Independence. Docked just in front of the Olympia is the U. S. S. Constellation, oldest fighting ship in commission. They daily attract thousands of visitors to the Exposition which continues until December 1.

O'NEIL-BRADY

Claude Neal Brady was united in marriage Saturday, Sept. 18 to Miss Olivia Loyola O'Neil. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph R. Crowley in the rectory of St. Joseph's church.

Mr. Brady has a number of friends and acquaintances in home for a short time with Mrs. M. J. Palmer, while employed in the Mercantile Trust Co. Bank here. Later he was transferred to San Jose where he is still with the same institution. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brady of Shelby, Mo., and a relative of Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. E. R. Kennedy.

Mrs. Brady was a popular young lady of San Jose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy O'Neil. The young couple will be at home after Oct. 15th, at their residence, 1494 Park Ave.

Army-Club Game

Ray Hulsman of Campbell has signed to play football with the Alumni Athletic Club of San Jose, and will wear the club uniform for the first time in a game against the Army team of San Francisco next Sunday afternoon at Varsity Field in Santa Clara. Hulsman played for the University of Santa Clara last year.

The army eleven is one of the strongest club organizations in the West, having won from the Barbarians by a 47-0 tally, and the Olympic Club by a 12-0 score. St. Mary's won from the service men however, by a 34-6 score.

The Alumni Club has played but one game. The College of Pacific under "Swede" Righter made easy work of the club men, winning 38-0.

Miss Bozena Kalas spent the week-end here with her family.

KIWANIS TOLD OF CHEST WORK

At a well attended luncheon Wednesday "Tac" Cutting presided and later turned the maul to Doc Beall, who drove home a few well chosen remarks as well as "Rocked Out" a few shekles for the charity box.

Julius Rainwater, executive head of the Community Chest, was the speaker of the hour and gave some interesting pointers on charity and chest work.

All agencies for charity and like work expend about $400,000 annually in this county of which sum the Chest handles $150,000 to aid these and carry on its own work. At present 293 children are being fed by the local chest, Denver was the first city to do its charity through a chest fund but at present there are 277 chests now in working order in this country.

Campbell was the first community to organize a community council and chest as a part of a larger organization, and the plan is being adopted in many other parts of the country and is known as the "Campbell Plan." The management has answered many inquiries from other cities and communities concerning the organization and working of the idea. Saratoga has just adopted the "Campbell Plan" and Santa Clara is now considering the proposition. This method eliminates many campaigns and canvasses for funds and conserves the townspeople's money. Of the estimated $200,000,000 given in charity in the year in the United States, only about $65,000,000 is budgeted so that a strict account is kept of its use, while the balance is not accounted for or lost in the misuse of the funds. Many soliciting agencies are unworthy undeserving because of the misuse of funds while some are purely money grabbing concerns with no intent of charitable use of moneys collected. There are now 11,602 supporters of the Santa Clara County Community chest and indications are that this number will be materially increased owing to the expansion of the territory and volume of aid to be given. The next campaign for the County Chest will be held in November.

Ira Abbott was reported quite ill and going to the hospital for treatment.

CONSOLIDATED TO MEET OCTOBER 5

The next regular meeting of Santa Clara County Consolidated will be held in the Woman's Club House on Grant Street, in Santa Clara October 5th.

Definite accomplishment of plans during the past month for Prune Week, November 22-27, will be outlined by W. F. Powers, Chairman of the Committee. These plans are of a greater magnitude this year and it is anticipated that the demand will exceed the supply of these attractive boxes.

Jack Haviland, Manager of the San Jose District of the California State Automobile Association, will be present to lead a discussion on the pro and con of the proposed amendment to the State constitution as regards the Gas Tax for highway construction.

Nomination of Officers to hold office from November until the fall of 1927 will be an important matter of business. The regular election will take place at the November meeting.

Other matters of interest to Santa Clara County will be discussed and a large attendance is expected.

The Campbell Union Grammar School P. T. A., will hold their first regular meeting for the new term, next Tuesday, Oct. 5, at 2:30 p. m. The Executive Board will meet at 1:45 before the regular meeting.

The children will give a fifteen minute programme first, then Dr. Merrill will speak.

Miss Dunlap is chairman for the subject "Visual Education." A large attendance of mothers is desired.

P. T. A. CONVENTION AT CAMPBELL

The regular monthly meeting of Foothill Federation of Parents and Teachers met in Campbell Monday, Sept. 27th, at the Union Grammar School.

The board members convened at 1:30. Mrs. Sheldon Wills in the chair, announced her unlimited faith in the loyalty of all officers and members of the organization, and predicted a year full of work well done.

The resignations of Mrs. L. C. Cornell and Mrs. Dudley Williams of Los Gatos as Hospitality chairman and corresponding secretary respectively were read and accepted with regret; their places to be filled by president later.

It was voted to hold a membership drive, conducted as last year and to give three membership prizes: one to the school securing the greatest per cent of increase; one to the school having the largest nominal increase; and one for the largest per cent as compared to the average enrollment up to the last Monday in January 1927, at which time membership drive will close.

All officers were urged to advertise their meetings well in local papers and to save two copies of same, sending one to Mrs. W. I. Merrill Federation publicity chairman—and retaining other for local scrap book.

At 2:30 the meeting opened in regular session and Mrs. Geo. Schuyler gave a few words of welcome in the absence of Principal Abbott, who is ill. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meetings and treasurer's report, Mrs. Wills announced the change of the State P. T. A., headquarters from Sacramento to Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Building and asked the co-operation of each member in arousing interest in our magazines, "The Parent-Teacher" and "Welfare Magazine."

Most interesting and helpful reports were given by association presidents of program plans for the coming year, and evening meetings on alternate months seem to be a new departure; for this is a Parent-Teacher association and the evening affairs should appeal to both parents. Before we criticize the young, we should, as parents, begin to bring ourselves up-to-date by studying and playing together. All this goes with Parent-Teacher work to day and is the foundation of every meeting.

Two piano solos were beautifully rendered by Mrs. E. C. Merrill, music chairman of Campbell High School Parent-Teacher.

With the singing of the P. T. A. song the meeting adjourned to meet in Campbell again on Oct. 25th, when Mr. Herbert Jones, state senator will discuss "Propositions upon which the people of the state are to vote in November." Everybody is most cordially invited on Oct. 25th.

HOME SAVED FROM FIRE

Mayfield Smith suffered a severe loss by fire last Thursday when fire of unknown origin destroyed a large pump house, garages and sheds, with their contents, valued between $5000 to $7000.

The fire was discovered shortly after the noon hour by a ranch worker while eating his lunch.

Neighbors gathered quickly and helped confine the fire to these buildings, saving the fine new house. By remarkable nerve and presence of mind, Mrs. Mark Smith, with the aid of several Mexican fruit workers, was able to take the tractor and two autos from the burning buildings and these were the only things saved. A hard fight was necessary to save the house that stood near by.

The Smith ranch is just off the Dry Creek Road, the house being situated at the end of a lane.

Jones talk on the proposed amendments which are to be voted upon in November.

The public is invited to attend this meeting which will begin at

Mr. Jones will give a short ing it clearly. If you are in doubt about any of these measures, you cannot afford to miss this meeting.

Many a man needs a self-starter to his ambition.

WHY AMERICA WINS OVER EUROPE

France is in difficulties and is taking it out on American tourists and Americans generally. In a half critical, half envious, and half humorous manner Uncle Sam is being called a Shylock.

What France needs is to clean her own household. Nearly all of the European countries are held back by restrictive laws, tariff walls, customs and red tape. If Europe would throw down its bars trade and commerce would not be held back. If Europeans would get bickerings out of their systems and jealousies out of their hearts they would come nearer relieving themselves of financial disaster.

In the United States and Canada things are different. A man can raise potatoes in Idaho and sell them in Georgia; or manufacture shoes in Massachusetts and dispose of them in California.
It is nobody's business but HIS business. He is not confronted with restrictive or prohibitive laws so far as interstate traffic is concerned. The United States and Canada constitute the largest free trade area in the world. Hence the prosperity of these North American countries.

The word "protection" in Europe becomes a misnomer. If Sweden can make good shoes cheaply those shoes ought to be cheap enough so that the Italians would not have to go barefooted.
If Switzerland can make good cheese and better cheese than Spain she should be allowed to furnish the Spaniards with this wholesome food at non-prohibitive prices. In other words, commerce, as such, should have no common lot with traditions, languages and racial distinctions that rightly hold nations apart. When it comes to Business, the greatest "protection" is often the lack of it, when protection is translated as restriction of the natural flow of commerce and the supplying of the world's needs with the world's products.

There are, of course, certain fundamentals of protection underlying all local prosperity. The United States can well afford to protect from low standards of living and cheap labor and cheap products of foreign countries, because this country is large and is practically self-supporting.
But in a group of small countries as in Europe,
where to us another nation is like another county or another state, there is every reason why national prejudices and mistrusts should give way to the necessities of business intercourse. This, however, is not done, and Europe suffers. Unfortunately, she is more concerned about who guards the banks of the Rhine than about how and at what price her people are to be fed.

AMERICA ONE BIG COMMUNITY

Misfortune makes the whole world kin. The suffering occasioned by the loss of life and destruction of property in the storm that swept across an area in the southeastern portion of the United States brings not only its full measure of sympathy, but a whole nation stretches forth its hands to relieve and offer encouragement to stricken homes and hearts. Campbell is doing her part.

There is no North or South, no East or West to the whims of Nature, legally called "the acts of God." All humanity recognizes the mightiness of the elements to strike at will, and knows that the fury of hurricane, flood, tidal wave or earthquake is no respecter of sections of the country or of the earth's surface. All must sooner or later bow to the inevitable; or, failing that, must share their burdens and give assistance to those misfortunes from natural causes are equivalent to the wreckage sustained by the weakening of the human element.

What hurts one part of America hurts all.
This has been America's loss, not alone the stricken areas. Arbitrary and artificial lines do not separate human relationships. No boundary lines drawn by man can alienate the interests of one part of America from those of another. Commerce flows freely, and economic losses impair the national wealth. Love, companionship and national pride are intangible elements of life;
and though human losses can not be compensated for, they can be atoned in the courage to carry on.

And they will rebuild! The glory that was theirs will be reflected in new-born development.
Ambition is sustaining. Out of suffering will arise the spirit which can not die. It is this spirit —American determination—that will send its monitors of strength, sustenance and hope to regain its losses. For every part of America is vital to the whole. It's life blood flows to its utmost corners. America is one big community; and as such it must look to the necessities, share the burdens and accept the fortunes of every part.

When you came right down to it, Rome should have fiddled while Nero burned.

The broken promises of the politicians are usually submitted to the people in the form of amendments.

A Worthy Investment

The replacement of bonds and stock certificates that have been lost, stolen or destroyed by fire, can be accomplished sometimes, but the task involves trouble, expense and legal formalities. The possibility of loss of valuable articles is avoided by men and women that keep them in a fire-proof, thief-proof safe deposit box in the Mercantile Trust Company of California. The annual rental of a box is small.

CAMPBELL UNION HI

Enrollment at the High School has climbed to 275, the highest mark in its history. The assembly hall, even with two in a seat, cannot hold all the students—an indication that the time for building bigger is approaching.

The band, beside the individual work, has had two collective rehearsals, and promises much musical noise for the future. Twenty-five members are enrolled. Some of the instruments are the property of the students, some of the school.

At the regular meeting of the student body, Wednesday, a committee was appointed for the Freshman Reception to be held in the near future.

Both commercial and drawing departments report unusually large enrollments with rooms filled to capacity. R. E. Noddin reports that the physical education classes are thoroughly organized. The principles of basket-ball, volleyball, baseball, and tennis are being given along with work in body development.

ATHLETICS

Junior basket ball begins the season on the home court Friday night, Oct. 8. The 110 and 120 pound teams from Campbell and Morgan Hill will open the ball.

The alumni basket-ball team is going well. On Saturday night, Oct. 2, the alumni will play the Sport Shop of San Jose at Campbell. This will be a fast, clever game as the Cook brothers, Ernie Renzel, Meredith Stark, and others are on the Spaulding team.

AT REST

The funeral services of the late Ralston Alison were held Thursday of last week from the Methodist church, Rev. F. C. Farr officiating. He was assisted by Rev. John Wilson and Rev. W. H. Lloyd former pastors and intimate friends of the family. All gave intimate personalities of this kind man who was so universally loved by men of all walks of life. The church was packed to overflowing during the service and a long procession accompanied the remains to Oakhill cemetery where the Masonic service was held by Charity Lodge, escorted by the Knights Templar of San Jose, of which orders he was a member.

Banks of flowers that covered the casket and surrounding ground bore silent testimony of the high esteem in which he was held by his host of friends.

The pall bearers were, J. C. Ainsley, R. G. Archibald, J. F. Duncan, G. E. Farley, E. R. Kennedy and M. LeFevre.

DOG PROTECTS BODY OF ITS DEAD MASTER

Yuba City, (Sutter Co.)—A dog's invariable faithfulness to his master was given added proof a short time ago when Deputy Coroner Hugh Price Jones was called to the Bogus section to take charge of the remains of Charles A. Bonham, bachelor farmer who had died unattended during the night. On approaching the cabin of the dead man, Jones was driven back several times by Bonham's dog, the animal gnashing his teeth and growing more defiant at each attempt on the part of Jones to reach the door. Finally a neighbor of Bonham was able to appease the dog sufficiently to permit entrance, but the dog went toward the bed snarling and took a defiant position over his master's body, which he retained until again appeased. Bonham's affection for the dog stood in the way of his seeking medical attention in San Francisco. He told a neighbor a week ago that before he could make a trip to San Francisco to visit a specialist he would have to kill the dog, as he was convinced the animal would not stay with any other human being.

A mining scene duplicating the old gold days of the San Andreas section can be witnessed these days on the pioneer Demerest property, seven miles east of San Andreas where John C. Benson has a crew at work washing rich gravel at the junction of Cherokee and San Domingo creeks. The earlyday miners found this ground rich, but were unable to attain depth at this particular point owing to the flow of water underground. Benson is handling the water with a gasoline-driven pump and is washing gravel daily in sluice boxes. As much as $2.50 to the pan is being recovered, it is said.

Mittelsteadt hopes to establish a small yearly allowance to enlisted men and seeks to have the strength of the national guard increased from 5,300 to 6,300 by 1928.

California may have a great sculptor of the future in Helen Turner, 16-year-old high school girl of San Andreas, Calaveras county, according to art experts who are enthusiastic over examples of the girl's work on exhibit in Sacramento. The possibility of submitting a bond issue proposition to the voters in the near future to pay off indebtedness upon two of the city fire trucks of Dunsmuir and to provide the city with a fire alarm system, is being considered by the board of trustees. It is probable that three separate propositions will be submitted. One would be a proposal to issue bonds for $125,000 to pay off indebtedness on the two fire engines, another would be $7,000 for the purchase of a fire alarm system and another $7,000 for a service truck.

The old San Luis Obispo Mission, built in 1772, was broken into by vandals, who looted the altar and tabernacle, taking several valuable articles of faith, and maliciously destroying a part of the old altar. Father Keenan stated the chalice was worth approximately $500, but would have no particular commercial value.

Workmen have begun pouring concrete on the creek bridge on the east side highway just south of Red Bluff.
